Finance Unlocked for Nonprofits (FUN) was designed to increase nonprofit finance literacy in ways that help board members to grow their mission and protect their assets. It should not be considered as a substitute for professional advice.

BALANCE SHEET

FINANCE UNLOCKED
FOR NONPROFITS

Healthy organizations know where they are financially at any given time. A Balance Sheet is a report showing where you stand financially at a point in time. It is also known as a Statement of Financial Position.

KNOW

Above all, a nonprofit board member should understand these five BALANCE SHEET concepts:

- ✓ Snapshot: A balance sheet is a snapshot taken at a moment in time. It shows what you own and what you owe on a specific date.
- ✓ Liquidity: How quickly you can access your cash or other short-term assets. It represents an organization's ability to meet its obligations as they come due.
- ✓ Assets: What your organization owns or has the right to use. Cash and cash equivalents are available within three months. Current assets are those that can be converted into cash within 12 months.
- ✓ Liabilities: What your organization owes to others. Current liabilities are those that are due within 12 months.
- ✓ Reserves: Emergency funds; an amount set aside by the organization to be used in case of unexpected expense, planned future events, or unexpected programmatic opportunity.

KNOW MORE

- ✓ The Balance Sheet is always arranged in the same order, assets at the top, followed by liabilities and then net assets. This makes comparing Balance Sheets between organizations easier.
- ✓ Assets are typically listed in order of liquidity, or how quickly you can turn them into cash.
- ✓ Focus on the relationship between Current Assets and Current Liabilities. This helps you determine whether your organization has enough resources available to pay its obligations over the next 12 months. If Current Liabilities are getting close to Current Assets or exceed Current Assets, this is a red flag.
- ✓ Liquidity can also be measured by calculating the Current Ratio: Current Assets/Current Liabilities. Acceptable current ratios vary and are generally between 1.5 and 3 for healthy organizations. If the current ratio is below 1, the organization may have problems meeting its short-term obligations.

- ✓ Net Assets, known as equity in the for-profit world, is the total amount your organization has saved or retained from prior years. This is the formula that puts “balance” into the balance sheet:

$$\text{Assets} - \text{Liabilities} = \text{Net Assets (Equity)}$$

Put another way: $\text{Assets} = \text{Liabilities} + \text{Net Assets (Equity)}$

The way we show net assets is changing. Starting in 2018, net assets should be classified as “without donor restrictions” and “with donor restrictions.” Please see the Balance Sheet in this kit for an example of what this looks like.

PRACTICE

Test your knowledge on how to read the Balance Sheet using the sample on the next page:

1. On what date was this snapshot taken? On that day, what did “A Really Great Nonprofit” own?
2. What did it owe?
3. Are Current Liabilities close to or greater than Current Assets?
4. Is its current ratio (Current Assets/Current Liabilities) greater than one?
5. How much cash does it have?

Answers

1. September 30, 2017. $377,420
2. $75,933
3. No. Current assets exceed current liabilities.
4. Yes, it is 3.
5. $25,843

ASK

Now look at your own organization's Balance Sheet. Ask the same questions and use the Balance Sheet Pulse on page 5 to document your answers. Keep track of your answers over your next few board meetings to see how your answers change over time.

- What do we own?
- What do we owe?
- Are current liabilities less than current assets?
- Is our current ratio greater than one?
- How much cash do we have in reserves?
- What can you say about your organization's financial picture based on your understanding of its Balance Sheet?

ACT

These are Balance Sheet-related actions that you can take to instill a strong nonprofit finance culture within your organization.

- Review the Balance Sheet each month for anything unusual or any unexpected balances. The Balance Sheet is a key financial statement that all board members should receive and review. Don't be afraid to ask questions!
- Implement a Reserve Policy, if you don't have one already. This will generate conversations about what the right amount of reserves is for your specific organization and situation. Consistently monitor whether or not you are meeting your established reserve targets.
- If the Balance Sheet shows continued decline, consider what that might mean for the stability of the organization. Identify back up plans (reserves, line of credit, debt, etc.) to ensure that you have access to cash/capital. Have frank conversations as to when you would implement these plans.
- If you are in a very stable place, is it time to try new things? Is stability the goal? Consider the need to implement an Investment Policy to accept more risk and invest excess funds.

INCOME STATEMENT

Nonprofits plan for the future and then regularly check reality against this plan. An income statement is a financial report showing operating results over a specific time period. It is also known as a Statement of Activities or Profit & Loss Statement (P&L).

KNOW

Above all, a nonprofit board member should understand these five INCOME STATEMENT concepts:

- ✓ Period of Time: A set, recurring time increment over which an income statement reports. Can be over a month, quarter or year. It is often "YTD," or Year to Date.
- ✓ Budget: Your financial plan, usually for the coming year. It includes an estimate of income and expenses, considering both fiscal accountability and mission priorities. The budget should be reviewed and approved by the Board of Directors.
- ✓ Actuals: True financial results; numbers that show what has actually happened. Actual income and expenses may differ from those budgeted or projected.
- ✓ Reporting: Presentation of meaningful financial information to internal decision makers (management, Board) or external users (funders, donors, banks, etc.). Internal reporting needs to be done on a consistent, timely basis, and reports should facilitate informed decision-making. External reports should meet any specific requirements and be reviewed with an eye to how they portray your organization.
- ✓ Revenue Diversification: Using multiple funding sources to hedge against financial instability. Multiple funding streams protect organizations against significant program interruption that may come from the sudden change or loss of one funding source.

KNOW MORE

- ✓ An Income Statement (Statement of Activities) may look different if being shared with an external audience. You may choose to highlight what is restricted.
- ✓ Nonprofits have two main types of income. Revenue includes resources that resulted from an exchange transaction, such as program or service fees, ticket sales/event income, and investment income. Support comes from resources for which no services or goods were exchanged, such as grants, contributions, and in-kind donations.

- ✓ Nonprofits have many of the same expense categories as other organizations (wages, operating expenses, and marketing). Unlike other organizations, they are also required to track expenses by functional classification: program services, administration, or fundraising. This classification is required on the Form 990.
- ✓ Nonprofits should track in-kind donations on their books because these donations have value and nonprofits need to plan for a scenario in which those items are not donated but need to be purchased.

PRACTICE

Test your knowledge on how to read the Income Statement using the sample on the next page:

1. What is the period of time that is being compared?
2. How is the year doing relative to budget?
3. Are there are large variances?
4. Is the income statement formatted and at the right level of detail to give us the information that we need? What else would you want to know?
5. Would this income statement be shared with funders? Would it provide the right level of information for their needs?
6. How diversified are the funding streams? Is the budget overly dependent on a single revenue stream?

Answers

1. January 1 – September 30, 2017 against the 2017 budget (January-December 2017).
2. They are $17,135 below budget through the end of September 2017.
3. Yes. There is a large variance in support. They budgeted to get $50,000 from the FUN Foundation and only received $15,000. Other support, revenues and expenses are generally on track as compared to budget.
4. (Open to interpretation.)
5. Yes, it has the right level of detail for most funders.
6. The funding streams are pretty well diversified. They seem somewhat dependent on grants, especially those from the FUN Foundation, which are about 23% of total support and revenue.

ASK

Now look at your own organization's Income Statement. Ask the same questions and use the Income Statement Pulse on page 5 to document your answers. Keep track of your answers over your next few board meetings to see how your answers change over time.

- How diversified are our funding streams? Is our budget overly dependent on a single revenue stream?

ACT

These are the Income Statement-related actions that you can take to instill a strong nonprofit finance culture within your organization.

- Review the income statement each month for significant variances, anything unusual or any unexpected trends. Don't be afraid to ask questions! Understanding variances is important, but the real Board work is any action that may need to be taken.
- Compare the story you are hearing about your organization (Executive Director reports, committee reports, development, newsletters, etc.) to the income statement and ask questions when the two seem inconsistent.
- Scrutinize your current reports: Are we getting enough detail? Too much detail? Are variances calculated for us? What could make them more meaningful? Once you have made any improvements, consistent monthly reporting is crucial.
- Now that you understand what income you have, develop strategies for diversifying funding sources. Research what other organizations are doing to diversify income.
- If funds are diverse but the amounts coming in are not consistent, what can you do to increase the reliability of these funds?
- If your funds are diverse and consistent, is it time to start thinking about new program investments or investing in reserves?

IRS Form 990

The IRS Form 990 – an annual required tax filing – highlights a nonprofit’s mission and compliance with federal regulations. It is your most public document, available online and viewed by potential donors.

KNOW

Above all, a nonprofit board member should understand these four IRS Form 990 concepts:

- ✓ Public Document: The Form 990 is your organization's most public financial document and can be viewed by any member of the public. The Form 990 is automatically uploaded to GuideStar.org where the public, including potential donors and funders, review 990s while making funding decisions.
- ✓ Marketing Tool: The 990 can be used to market the organization's mission, programs, success and stability. This can include program accomplishments and statistics, volunteer numbers/hours, areas served, etc.
- ✓ Governance: The 990 includes a listing of policies and governance best practices. In the context of the Form 990, governance relates to maintaining your exempt purpose, board independence, and certain written policies and procedures.
- ✓ Compliance & Penalties: Although a nonprofit does not pay Federal income taxes, annual reporting is mandatory to maintain the nonprofit tax status. There are several legal and financial penalties that can fall on an organization if the Form 990 is not filed on time, is incomplete, or is not filed correctly. If a 990 is not filed for 3 consecutive years, the organization will automatically lose its federal tax-exemption.

KNOW MORE

- ✓ Speed read your way through a 990 by focusing on 4 pages:
 - Page 1: Snapshot. Basic information and summary of activities
 - Page 2: Accomplishments. Tell the story of how you are achieving your mission.
 - Pages 3/4: Checklist of required schedules.
 - Page 6: Governance and management. Summary of whether you are following best practices.

- ✓ There are several 990s available depending on your annual gross receipts and assets:
 - Gross receipts of $50,000 or less, e-postcard (990-N)
 - Gross receipts between $50,000 and $200,000 and assets less than $500,000, 990-EZ
 - Larger organizations file the full Form 990.

- ✓ Your return is due 4 ½ months after your year-end. Two extensions are possible to 10 ½ months.

- ✓ If you have revenues unrelated to your organization’s exempt purpose, you may also need to file a 990-T. Consider income from advertising, parking fees, or subleased space.

- ✓ Nonprofits pay almost all state and local taxes. See our separate resource on Taxes and Nonprofits.

- ✓ Nonprofits need to pass an IRS “public support test” to maintain their tax-exempt status as “public charities” (as opposed to private foundations). One large grant from a foundation could tip an organization away from being at least one-third publicly supported.

PRACTICE

A sample 990 can be found here: <https://www.wanonprofitinstitute.org/finance/>. Use this sample to answer these questions.

1. What was this organization’s net income in 2016?
2. How many volunteers did they have?
3. This 990 says that the Howard Foundation made grants of $150,000 in 2016. On page 2 of this 990, do they do a good job showing the impact of these funds?
4. How many schedules should they complete to answer questions on pages 3-5?
5. Page 6 talks about governance practice. From their answers, what do you think they should have put their to-do list for the next year?
6. What impression do you now have about the Howard Foundation?

Answers

1. -$139,720. In other words, they went into their assets by this amount.
2. 150
3. No. They provide very little information about the impact these funds had.
4. All or parts of 7 schedules: A, B, D, I, M, N, and O.
5. They might look at their conflict of interest policies and how well they monitor board disclosure of possible conflicts.
6. It seems like a well-run organization, but they did not list their mission on Page 1 and I do not have a strong opinion of what impact they are making based on the limited descriptions on Page 2.

ASK

Now look at your own organization's IRS Form 990. Ask the same questions and use the 990 Pulse on page 4 to document your answers. Keep track of your answers over your next few board meetings to see how your answers change over time. These questions fall into these four main categories:

- Filing: Which form do you need to file? When? Who is responsible for making sure you meet your deadlines?
- Compliance: Is your organization doing everything it is supposed to be doing to maintain its tax-exempt status?
- Governance: Is your organization following best practices when it comes to governance?
- Marketing: What impressions would a donor have after reading your 990?

ACT

These are the 990-related actions that you can take to instill a strong nonprofit finance culture within your organization.

- Review the list of governance practices on Page 6 of the 990. Using this as a guide for best practices, what can your organization do to strengthen its governance practices?
- Review the percentage of public support you are receiving over time. Year-to-year, is your public support percentage of total support declining? Increasing? Make goals around the percentage of public support that would make your organization more sustainable over time.
- Review your gross revenue from unrelated business sources. Do you have more than $1,000 in these sources? Are you filing a 990-T? Ask whether these activities are pulling you away from your mission.
- Ask your marketing or development staff to review the 990 and provide wording that would resonate with potential funders.
- Review all of the levels of compliance for your organization. Are you required to file an annual report with the Secretary of State Charity Office? Are you required to have a local business license?
- As you think about how your organization can advocate on behalf of your mission, start by knowing how much of your budget comes from public funds. Federal funds or resources cannot be used to influence state or federal legislation, but discretionary funds can be.

About reporting in Washington State

We created the graphic below to help nonprofits remember to complete their Annual Report as a corporation, and their Annual Renewal if they are a charity.

Download here: https://www.wanonprofitinstitute.org/wp-content/uploads/2019/08/OSOS_requirement2018.pdf

Stay Up-to-Date with the Secretary of State
 Nonprofit and charitable organizations need to register and stay up-to-date with the Office of the Secretary of State.

1 Check which type of organization you are. 2 Note your key dates. 3 Put those dates onto your organizational calendar.

1 Nonprofit Corporation

What is it: A private corporation for which no part of the income is distributable to its members, directors or officers. It is formed to benefit the public, a specific group of people, or the membership of the nonprofit.

Examples: Labor union, chamber of commerce, social clubs, business leagues.

Annual Requirements:

- What: Annual Report
- When: Last day of organization's incorporation month. A reminder will be sent to the registered agent at least 30 days prior to required filing date.
- Cost: $10

2 Your incorporation date: _____
 Your annual report filing date: _____
For example, an incorporation date of March 3, 2002 would have an annual report filing date of March 31, 2018. File online!

3 ADD TO CALENDAR
 ...and don't forget to update address changes if you move or change contact person.

Nonprofit and Charitable Organization

- ★ 60% of charitable organizations are also nonprofit corporations.
- ★ They include many of the organizations we know providing direct service, supporting the arts, or advocating for causes.
- ★ They follow both sets of requirements to be in compliance with the Secretary of State.

Developed by:

WASHINGTON NONPROFITS
SOS
 Office of the Secretary of State

Charitable Organization
or individuals soliciting on behalf of organizations

What is it: An entity that solicits or collects contributions from the general public in Washington to be used to support a charitable purpose. May or may not be a corporate structure.

In Washington, includes organizations that:

- Raise at least $50,000 annually in Washington. OR
- Pay anyone to carry out the activities of the organization.

Examples: Education, health, social service, religious, cultural, and scientific organizations. Examples that are NOT necessarily nonprofit corporations: Individual fundraisers, out-of-state organizations, foreign corporations, some associations. Churches may register but are not required.

Annual Requirements:

- What: Annual Renewal
- When: No later than the last business day of the eleventh month after the end of the organization's accounting year. Earlier reporting welcome!
- Cost: $40

<http://www.sos.wa.gov/charities/WanttoRenewYourCharities@incorporationEarly.aspx>

2 Your accounting year end: _____
 Your charities filing date: _____
For example, an accounting year end of February 28, 2017 would have an annual renewal filing date of January 31, 2018.

GIVING

Healthy nonprofits make use of a wide range of funding sources and are mindful of the differences in accounting, donor expectations, and restrictions. After all, money fuels nonprofit work, so nonprofits need to think about what fills their engines.

KNOW

Above all, a nonprofit board member should understand these elements of GIVING:

- ✓ Communication: Fundraising and financial reporting must be aligned for effective and timely information to reach the individuals or institutions funding a nonprofit's work. Within a larger organization, the development staff and the finance staff must communicate in order for the right reporting to take place. Donors receive a written receipt for all donations of $250 or more.
- ✓ Pledge: A formal commitment to make a contribution of a specific amount. Also called "promises to give." Pledges can come from individual donors or from institutional funders (foundations, corporations, etc.).
- ✓ Endowment: Donations given with the intent that the principal (corpus) will be maintained intact in perpetuity and that earnings will be used for general operations or specific purposes, as defined by the donor.
- ✓ In-kind: Donations other than cash or pledges, typically goods or services. Note that an organization should be careful about issuing tax letters related to in-kind donations given that some in-kind donations can be tax-deductible (i.e. goods at fair market value) and others (i.e. volunteer time) are not tax deductible.

Donor-Imposed Restrictions: These are contributions restricted by the donor for a specific use. Restricted gifts require additional tracking and accounting to ensure they are stewarded appropriately and used for their intended purpose. Some donors impose restrictions that are temporarily in nature. Other donors impose restrictions that are perpetual in nature.

KNOW MORE

- ✓ General operating funds: Funds given to sustain the organization with no restrictions on how funds should be spent.
- ✓ Board-designated funds: Funds earmarked by an organization's Board of Directors for a specific purpose, such as operating reserves. For accounting purposes these funds are still considered to be without donor restrictions because the condition was not specified by a donor.

- ✓ Special event proceeds: Income generated through the attendance of a specific fundraising event, either through donations given at the event or ticket sales. Receipts reflect the net tax-deductible amount. This means that the value of a meal at an auction, for example, is subtracted from the ticket price in calculating the tax deduction.

PRACTICE

Turn back to the Income Statement on page 11 of this Kit.

1. Where is their funding coming from according to their budget? Review by percentages.
2. What does their accountant or bookkeeper need to track in terms of giving?
3. How diversified do you think their income streams are?

Answers

1. Their 4 largest funding sources are: foundations (38%), individual contributions (30%), admissions (13%), and government grants (11%). The FUN Foundation is a separate line item because it is a major funder.
2. Their bookkeeper needs to know about any non-cash contributions, such as pledges or in-kind. (S)he also needs to be made aware of any contributions with restrictions that earmark gifts for anything other than general operating support. (S)he needs to know about any grant-specific reporting requirements. If the organization advertised the special event as supporting a specific program or initiative, the bookkeeper needs to restrict those funds accordingly.
3. The income streams are well diversified at this time.

ASK

Now look at your own organization's Income Statement. Ask the same questions and use the Giving Pulse on page 5 to document your answers. Keep track of your answers over your next few board meetings to see how your answers change over time.

- Where does your funding come from now? Review by percentages.
- Is there appropriate communication between your fundraising and accounting teams?
- How are you accounting for pledges?
- How do we track and account for in-kind donations?
- What kind of reporting could be included for any restricted gifts we receive?

ACT

These are the Giving-related actions that you can take to instill a strong nonprofit finance culture within your organization.

- Build systems for consistent communication between the fundraising and the financial sides of your organization.
- Set goals around diversifying income streams.
- Consider implementing a Gift Acceptance Policy. This clearly outlines what types of gifts you will and will not accept.
- Consider what it would mean for your organization if you suddenly had to pay cash for a significant in-kind good or service. Do you have adequate reserves in place to cover this cost?
- Engage in some scenario planning. Imagine some possible scenarios in terms of funding either going away or new funding becoming available. What would you do? How quickly could you do this?
- Track trends that impact your funding. Overall, is individual giving up or down in your community? Is there a saturation of fundraising events, leading to "event burnout"? Is something going to cause you to need to serve more people, thus needing a sudden increase in funding?

GIVING PULSE

	Key Questions	Date	Date	Date	Date
Diversification	Where does our funding come from now? Review by percentages.
Communication	Are fundraising staff members communicating with finance staff about gifts with restrictions, pledges, and in-kind donations? How?
Restrictions	Are we being intentional when we request/accept restricted gifts? Are we considering any additional tracking that may be involved?
Pledges	Are we accounting for pledges?
In-kind	Are we tracking and accounting for in-kind contributions?
Capacity	Are we being thoughtful in our decisions about what funds we apply for and accept?
Reporting	Have we followed through on required reporting?

OVERSIGHT

Nonprofit board members are ultimately responsible for the effective, responsible use of a nonprofit's resources. Oversight includes "controls", the policies and procedures designed to prevent fraud and ensure accurate reporting of the affairs of the organization.

KNOW

A nonprofit board member should consider the following five elements of OVERSIGHT:

- ✓ Internal Controls: An organization's monitoring, measuring, and directing against risk and fraud. Includes policies and procedures that ensure:
 - Effectiveness and efficiency of operations
 - Safeguarding assets against loss and unauthorized use or disposition
 - Reliability of financial reporting
 - Compliance with applicable laws and regulations and adherence to policies
- ✓ Access: Segregation of duties, specific delegation of authority; clarification of who has access to what and when. Key areas of access can include: bank account access, organizational credit cards, blank check stock, cash/checks received, accounting system, donor database, payroll system, and approval authority.
- ✓ Policies and Procedures: Protocols guiding behaviors and outcomes. Together, policies and procedures represent an organization's detailed list of what needs to be done, who is responsible, how roles and duties are segregated, and steps for achieving completion.
- ✓ Review: Periodic, internal examination of an organization's finances, policies and procedures to ensure that everything is in order.
- ✓ Avoiding Fraud: Critical to the success and integrity of an organization. Includes safeguards that organizations put in place to identify possibilities for fraud and ways to keep the organization and its participants from committing fraud. Avoiding fraud and maintaining a positive reputation is important to the continuing success of an organization.

KNOW MORE

- ✓ In Washington State, board members have three duties related to their fiduciary responsibilities. These three duties should be included in an annual board discussion.

Three duties according to Washington law:

Duty of Obedience: You act in good faith, in a manner that you reasonably believe to be in the best interests of the organization.

Duty of Loyalty: You act in a manner that furthers the interest of the organization and you refrain from engaging in personal activities that could be construed to injure or take advantage of the relationship to the organization.

Duty of Care: You exercise diligence in the oversight of corporate officers, seeking and reviewing all necessary information in order to make informed decisions. You make reasonable inquiries and exercise independent judgment using the skill, caution and diligence that a prudent person would use.

- ✓ Bank statements should be opened or viewed online by someone who understands the organization's work but has no role in financial operations. This review is meant to identify any transactions, payees, check signers, etc. that appear out of the ordinary and inform the full board.
- ✓ Clear policies and procedures on expenditures help to make clear to anyone spending money on behalf of the organization what their limits are. Check that these limits are being followed.
- ✓ A whistleblower policy allows individuals a clear way to notify the board if something is suspicious, doesn't look or feel right, or may be detrimental to the organization.
- ✓ Internal mini-audits are important to spot-check the finances. Ask questions and review details of a few specific accounts or financial statement line-items on a rotating basis and report back to the board group.
- ✓ Organizational risks should be reviewed at least annually. Consider fraud risks, legal risks, financial risks, operational risks, regulatory risks, program risks, and other business risks.

ASK

Look at your organization's current practices. Ask the same questions and use the Oversight Pulse on page 4 to document your answers. Keep track of your answers over your next few board meetings to see how your answers change over time.

- Do we have basic, written accounting procedures that highlight key internal controls?

- Do we have checks and balances for accountability? Have we limited access as much as possible, given our size?
- What formal policies are currently in place? What other policies might need implemented? Are our policies and procedures up to date?
- How do we perform risk assessment that includes our consideration of business, operational, and fraud risks?
- Are there any red flags or concerns that could hurt our work or our perception in the community?

ACT

These are the oversight-related actions that you can take to instill a strong nonprofit finance culture within your organization.

- Develop a set of basic, written accounting procedures that highlight your organization's key controls, including who has access to what. This should be made available to the Board and revisited at least annually to keep current and effective.
- Develop a core set of organizational policies, keep them current and follow them.
- Consider other organizations' policies and procedures to see if there are any areas you have not yet thought of. (Sample policies and procedures can be found through the links in "Further Resources.") Are there any procedures or policies that you have not put in place because it hasn't seemed necessary? Any best-practice policies that you should consider based on the Form 990, funders or watchdog groups?
- Develop a routine risk assessment program that is appropriate for your size and complexity. A sample risk assessment form is in "Further Resources."
- Monitor your finances and internal controls. Consider internal audits or reviews of both the numbers and the controls.
- Do you have backup procedures and a disaster recovery plan? Now that your policies and procedures are in place and you are reviewing regularly have you thought about crisis planning? Is there any situation that you can think of that could derail your plans?
